Member Benefits Report—Second Quarter 2014

Business Valuation Articles Library

by Melissa A. Cardwell, Director of Project Management

NACVA's Mission is to provide resources to members and to enhance their status, credentials, and esteem in the field of performing valuations, financial forensics, and other related advisory services. To further this purpose, NACVA offers its members many benefits and resources. One of those resources is the Business Valuation Articles Library. The articles library currently contains over 4,500 articles on business valuation, financial forensics, litigation, and related industry topics. Drawn from both general and specialized trade publications, government reports, white papers, and other sources, these articles serve as invaluable reference materials on a wide variety of both valuation-related issues and other related discussions in the financial forensics realm.

NACVA members can access the articles library by logging in to the NACVA Member Portal using your member number and password. Once logged in as a member, you will find, on the left-hand side of the screen a link to the Business Valuation Articles Library. Once you click the link, you will be taken to the articles database on the NACVA partner website of KeyValueData. The articles database is searchable by category, title, source, keywords, authors, and date. This vast store of articles, easily accessible and downloadable (most without charge), has no peer within the valuation community in terms of the volume of data that it provides from a single online location.
